

Rufus Wolfe. That's my name if I get caught this time. I've got the ID chits to prove it too. That was a costly buy. But if everything goes as planned I won't get caught and won't have to worry about the damned blue hulls again. I better Do this anyway. Just in case.

My name is Silvas Clarke. I guess a little explanation is in order. A few months back I... acquired, blueprints for an experimental ship. Nothing like I've ever seen, nothing like the guy I'd paid to build it'd ever seen.

Since you're listening to this recording I've either been caught or I'm dead, so it won't matter if you know. I'm a smuggler, I've been smuggling for years and I've made a lot of credits doing it. The Hermes, this ship, cost me almost my entire fortune to have built and fueled. It's propulsion system is located about four miles behind behind me. It uses a
